

May Play

---

EGG in the News:

EGG was recently mentioned in an article on local gaming opportunities in the Reitz High School paper, the Mirror. The Guild was mentioned, along with our meeting place at Comic Quest, but our meeting times were not. Perhaps predictably, most of the space in the article was dedicated to a locally popular LAN that sponsors events here in Evansville, though contact info for the LAN group was also notably missing from the article. With luck, we should be able to make the article available on our website soon for interested members to review.

A Word on Membership Benefits:

Not all our members may be aware, but Comic Quest grants members of EGG a 10% discount on purchases when you present your membership card! Please remember though, that the CQ employees see lots of gamers every week, and can't be expected to remember who is or isn't a current EGG member. So this discount will ONLY be given if members actively show their card when checking out at the counter. Also, this discount is a way for CQ to say thank you to us, but it doesn't give you the right to be rude! Please wait patiently in line if the employees are busy, like anybody else.

Easter EGGs:

A big thank you goes out to Bryan Faw for organizing the Heroes of Rokugan interactive at our EGG Easter party. Over 20 people participated, and everyone seems to have had a great time! Bryan did a ton of work organizing this and pre-generating loads of characters for all the folks new to Rokugan. A special thanks also to members Tom Epley, who agreed to run the grill for us at the event while the rest of us were LARPing, and Jeri Haupt, who organized the EGG hunt. Congratulations to Jonathan Schoenbachler, who found the grand prize egg – and a year's paid membership to EGG.

A Timely Reminder:

No one likes to miss a game, or to be kept at work late. We thusly give our members some gentle reminders...

Comic Quest closes at 10:30pm. This means you need to be packing up and on your way out BEFORE 10:30! You don't want to be kept at work late, so what makes you think CQ employees do? Please be considerate of them.

Also, please be on time for a game if you say you will be there. RPGA tournaments take 4 hours, so showing up late means you may cause the entire table to fail a mission (if it can't be completed in time) or to not be able to play (if you are the 4th person needed for a legal table). At the very least, you will probably lose your place at the table, and lose your chance to play that night! Even if you don't play RPGA games, being late takes away from game-time for everyone... So if you have to be late, please call and let someone know, or see about changing the scheduled time of your game so that everyone can be on time.

<http://www.evansvillegamingguild.com>

See you next month, good gaming!

---

This newsletter maintained by webmaster@evansvillegamingguild.com

This issue dated: 1 May, 2004